European Identity in Times of Crisis (EITC)

European Summer Academy 2017: Myths of Europe – April 29th to May 8th

Title: Video/Film

Workshop Trainer: Achim Böcking

Workshop description

Objectives of the workshop

Create a video by means of mobile phones. The participants should get basic knowledge about finding a story or a theme, about the research of pictures, music and content, about operating pictures and sound, about dramaturgy and film editing.

Point of departure

Maybe the students feel inspired by the idea of Europe and European politics. Or they get inspired by the place in Greece and by the people they meet during the time of their stay. Perhaps they want to take as point of departure the Greek mythology.

Results intended:

The results may consist in documentaries or in fictional films, for example a documentary about the meeting in general, or a documentary with a special theme such as the daily life of people living around.

The students can also tell by means of the video metaphorical tales about Europe, such as about refugees, poorness, travelling, new horizons, hate and love, the change of nature and living. The videos can be published on YouTube.

Methods of work:

After a short introduction and the exchange of ideas, the participants will be invited to work in small teams (ca. 3 participants per group) to realise their ideas. The rhythm of teamwork, group meetings and personal feedback will be determined by the group together with the instructor. Number of participants: not more than 12

Preparation:

People interested in the workshop should study the possibilities of their mobile phone, concerning the camera. They are invited to get some knowledge over Greece and the place of the meeting and to read tales of the Greek mythology. They are going to produce a video of 3 mns length in a small working group.
